

Designing your global path is one of the most exciting ways to discover your place in the world! The program has three options.

Option 1: Designing your Global Path Semester

Spend a semester working with our team to go in depth on your life design. In this semester you will complete the Designing your Global Path course, take additional courses of your choice (up to three additional courses from our Changelab or scheduled university level courses) and have the opportunity to job shadow career paths you may have identified, meet and interview changemakers and those in certain career paths, as well as learning and traveling from your home base of Harlaxton.

Option 2: Designing your Global Path + Exploring your Global Path

This option allows you to take the Designing your Global Path course in the first seven weeks of the term (quarter 1) and then spend the second seven weeks of the term (quarter 2) exploring innovation in action and traveling to meet those making it happen! Each semester has a different theme or location to visit. Students spend the first weeks of the second quarter learning about the locations they will visit and planning their trip as a team. Then the team will take an adventure to see the capitals of Changemaking and meet those who are actively doing Changemaking as their life's work. We may meet start up founders in Iceland, visit renewable energy in Germany, visit tea plantations in India, or see how Greece is working with immigrants and refugees. Students will then return to the UK to work on their final projects and presentations to finish the semester and chart their own global path. Semesters vary, so please see details in the Cost and Dates box.

Option 3: Designing your Global Path + Internship

Many students love to take the time an internship allows to truly test drive their passions and interests. With this combination, a student will take Designing your Global path in the first seven weeks (quarter 1) and then an internship in the following seven weeks (quarter 2). The internship will be determined once the student has had time to discover interests and passions. Our specialist internship team will work with students to secure a placement that allows for the first quarter's work to come into perspective. Harlaxton is the perfect location to satisfy many interests and passions through internships that truly stand out from the crowd. Take a deeper dive into the path you want for your future!
